FIVE REJECTED.

Drs. Dickey and Baird Conducting a Rigid Examination.

EIGHT RECRUITS WERE ACCEPTED

YESTERDAY IN CAPTAIN WILLIS' COMPANY, AFTER PASSING THE PRELIMINARY PHYSICAL EXAMINATION—THERE ARE NOW 122 MEN ENROLLED AND THE COMPANY'S QUOTA WILL BE HAD THIS WEEK—MORE WHEELING MEN DEPART FOR CAMP THOMAS.

Yesterday afternoon the physical examination of men who have enrolled as members of Captain R. H. D. Willis' company of the Second regiment of West Virginia Volunteer Infantry, was continued, and the day's record was not so near a clean one as the day previous, when only three out of forty-five were rejected by the examining physicians, Drs. Baird and Dickey. Thirteen men were examined on Tuesday, and of these eight passed. They are:

Albert H. Ebbert, shipping clerk, 43 Maryland street.
Joseph Wicard, steelworker, 1316 Jacob street.

Gottlieb Alchele, millworker, 2626 Main street.
Hugh Cusick, potter, Tiltonville, O.
John A. Harmon, plumber, 405 Coal street.

Charles R. Williams, coal miner, Yorkville, Ohio.

John C. Burns, clerk, Yorkville, Ohio.

There are now 122 men enrolled in this company, but possibly a score of these went with Franzheim's company of Immunes and probably another score will be rejected by the physicians, so that there are places for about twenty recruits yet. Young men desiring to enlist should see Captain Willis at the earliest moment possible, as the company will probably depart for Camp Lee before the end of the week.

ON TO CAMP THOMAS.

Yesterday morning another batch of recruits were sent on to Camp Thomas, at Chickamauga, Georgia, by the recruiting officer of the First West Virginia, Lieutenant Conner. Those who departed were:

Company B—John Putnam, laborer, Wheeling.

Company C—Franklin H. Lewis, ironworker, Benwood; Edward Ratta, machinist, Akron, O.; W. E. Norris, laborer, Monroe county, W. Va.; William E. Rogers, tube worker, Wheeling; Edward B. Milliken, tinner, Washington, Pa.; Ervin W. Frederick, iron worker, Wheeling; James Smith, Jr., iron worker, Benwood.

Company G—Joel H. Dodge, butcher, Wheeling; Emmett Barr, painter, Wellsburg; Charles C. Martin, Bethany; Charles M. Coney, farmer, Beeler's, W. Va.

Company M—Will H. Ulrich, printer, Wheeling; Elsha M. Lanham, farmer, Independence, W. Va.; Harold Holmes, bookkeeper, Wheeling; Harry W. Rogers, machinist, Wheeling; Jesse Matthews, ironworker, Wheeling; Ernest S. Stemple, farmer, Masontown, W. Va.

EXCELLENT PAPERS

Read at Second Day's Session of the Teachers' Institute.

The Institute of Ohio county teachers held its second day's sessions yesterday and the attendance was greater than on the opening day. The exercises were of more than ordinary interest, and interesting programmes have been outlined for the rest of the Institute, which closes on Friday afternoon.

Prof. T. C. Miller, the Institute instructor, gave an interesting bible reading, in the forenoon, the teachers responding with apt quotations from the best authors. Following this, Prof. J. N. Deahl gave a talk on languages, the subject being continued by Prof. Miller. Miss Orr, of Roney's Point, read an instructive paper on languages.

"Diet of Pupils and Teachers" was the theme of an excellent paper by Miss Maude Wharton, of Elm Grove. Miss Minnie Winters, of Sand Hill, read a paper on "Recreation of pupil and teacher," and Miss Adda Gardner, of West Liberty, followed with a paper on "Dress of teacher and pupil." This concluded the morning session.

The feature of the afternoon session was the paper on the local history of West Liberty, read by Miss Maude Curtis, of West Liberty. Miss Curtis did her subject ample justice, and many interesting incidents in the old town's history were vividly recalled. Miss Laura Young, of Washington, Pa., read a good paper on "Vertical Writing."

A REAL HISTORIC HERO

Brings the Great Realistic Exhibition He Originated.

Buffalo's Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World, which is to exhibit in Wheeling on Monday, July 4, is an enterprise of such magnitude and diversity, as to render a satisfactory editorial epitomization of its attractions impossible. Directed in person by Colonel W. F. Cody, the last and best known of all the greater scouts and pathfinders, it is an historical, military, and equestrian entertainment, as entirely free from anything allied to sham as is its world-famous and popular proprietor; with every feature absolutely genuine and developed to the superlative degree.

The various nationalities represented, including hundreds of savage and warlike Sioux, detachments of cavalry from the regular armies of Europe and the United States, Cowboys, Cowboys, Arabs, South American Gauchos, Mexican Vaqueros, noted scouts, hardy pioneers, Wild West girls, frontier marksmen, and others, combine in massed and individual displays, reviews, drills, races, battle scenes, equestrian rivalries, illustrations of border life, pastimes, peculiarities and skill, sharpshooting and athletic exhibitions, bareback riding, dances on horseback, forays, combats, buffalo hunt, lariat and bolas illustrations, and other presentations, which even a fly's eye, with its hundred lenses magnified a thousand fold, could scarce take in.

The martial programme includes that unusual and most stirring feature, a detachment of the Fifth United States Artillery, maneuvering two six-pounders just as in action, each gun drawn by a team of six horses, with which some extraordinary illustrations of expert driving between obstacles are given. A most sensational, life-like and memorable addition is the stupendous and terribly realistic spectacle and tableau of the dreadful Custer battle and massacre on the Little Big Horn, reproduced man for man and horse for horse, with tremendous truthfulness to history.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

By the Council Fire Department Committee at a Meeting Last Evening.

Contracts were awarded last night by the council committee on fire department, for a new roof at the Atlantic and a new floor at the Niagara engine houses. At a previous meeting the bids were unsatisfactory, and last night the bids received were more specific. Mr. Baird presided, the other members of the committee being: Nesbitt, Meyer and Marschner.

For the new roof at the Atlantic, Joseph Vogler, Jr., was the successful bidder. His bid was $92, to put on a tin roof. Other tin roof bids were: O. H. Auber, $105, Caldwell & Kenna, $138, Albert Auber, $105. To put on a slate roof, the bids were: O. H. Auber, $145 Agnew Roofing Company, $169 23. Bids for a shingle roof were: Metzger, $108 50, Kargess Bros, $143, A. Beall, $124, Fahy Bros, $110.

Fahy Bros. were successful bidders for the work at the Niagara. The bid was $90. The other bids were: Kargess Bros, $127 50, Louis Metzger, $98 40, A. Beall, $105.

Chief Klieves will superintend the work.

WARRANT FOR AN OFFICER.

Yesterday before Squire Haberfield, Mrs. William O. Walker, colored, swore out a warrant for Officer Alex Gardner, charging him with malicious destruction of property. The case was set for Friday. Mrs. Walker alleges that Officer Gardner, on June 1, cut her hat and shoes into ribbons, because, as she intimates, she resented his familiarity. The case is the outcome of a trial in yesterday morning's police court, when Mr. Walker was fined. Officer Gardner made the arrest.

ANOTHER COTTS VICTORY.

W. J. Cotts yesterday was given judgment for $122, the amount sued for, in the suit he brought against the city to recover rent for his property on Baker and McColloch streets. The suit was argued in Squire Haberfield's court, and the jury announced its verdict after being out but a short time. City Solicitor Nesbitt made a motion for a new trial, and the motion will be argued on Saturday. Col. Arnett appeared for Mr. Cotts. This is another one of the suits Mr. Cotts has successfully won in his litigation with the city over his famous property.
